

JPNN|Daliya Ghose| Mumbai|24th March 2014| | Ranveer was head over heels in love with Anushka Sharma when he was dating Anushka during 'Band Baaja Baraat' days. They couple even spotted getting cozy in various occasions but never openly confessed their love for one another. Ranveer Singh and Anushka Sharma's love was short-lived but the duo occupied a prominent space in the gossip columns. When they part ways, Ranveer totally devastated and locked himself in a hotel room for three days when Anushka left him. "He was out of town, and he didn't come out of his hotel room for three days. Ranveer refused to meet anyone, and moped around for weeks. He might behave like he is mad but when he is committed, he really gives it all to the relationships but these days it seems the actresses at least the ones he dates don't know the meaning of the word forever," a leading daily quoted a source close to Ranveer as saying. The reason of their separation is not known yet but their relationship was short-lived and they dated for a year. Post break-up with Anushka, Ranveer was single for some time but soon he found a new love in Deepika Padukone. Today, Ranveer is totally devoted to Deepika Padukone. He is tight-lipped about his relationship with Dippy but in various occasions, he spoke his feelings about the actress. Their bonding grew stronger during the shooting of 'Ram Leela'. Agency